LETTER WRITING GUIDE

*"We are one body, when one member suffers, we all suffer;
when one is lifted up, we all rejoice." – 1 Corinthians 12:26*

By writing a letter of encouragement to a persecuted Christian, you remind them that they are not alone and that believers around the world are praying for them. This brings hope, peace and encouragement to stand strong in the face of persecution!

HERE ARE THE GUIDELINES FOR WRITING TO A PERSECUTED CHRISTIAN

- + Write a short letter in simple English. Be sure to keep the letter encouraging, not dwelling on their hardships or what they do not have. Do not write anything negative about their country or government.
- + Please do not mention Open Doors or your home address. Do not include money or other gifts.
- + Hand-drawn items or notes from children can bring great encouragement as well.

Send letters to this address and Open Doors will translate and deliver these letters to persecuted believers
around the world.
Thank you for bringing encouragement to those suffering for their faith in Christ!
